INTRODUCTION

The Montana Faxnet Project was a two-year grant funded by the Fred Meyer Charitable Trust of Portland, Oregon. The purpose of the grant was to demonstrate a document delivery system using telefacsimile equipment. Governmental, legal, medical and educational organizations and libraries participated in the grant. The Faxnet demonstration project tested facsimile equipment in 59 Montana organizations and libraries. The impact of this technology proved to be an effective means for transferring information. After the introduction and demonstration phases were completed, 35% of the sites purchased and/or allocated funds for the acquisition of fax equipment. At the completion of the trial periods, the fax units were permanently placed in public libraries. These fax units are available for public use and are identified on pages 56 through 77 of this directory.

The Montana Faxnet Directory and Resource Guide has been published as a service to individuals and organizations. The Directory component contains the names of 207 individuals, organizations and libraries owning facsimile equipment. The Resource Guide outlines the collections and services of Montana Libraries that own and operate a facsimile unit.

The Montana Faxnet Network will still operate after the grant expires. The libraries who have acquired the Project-owned equipment have made a commitment to maintain the document delivery system. The public can use these sites to access and retrieve information. Many of these libraries have the equipment and expertise to conduct computer-based searches. With the use of computer and facsimile technology, Montanans have the opportunity to rapidly access and retrieve information from local, state and national information sites. This type of system diminishes the geographical barriers that Montanans have coped with in the past. Now individuals in rural areas have the same access to information as those people residing in large metropolitan areas.

Glasgow City County Library is willing to lend out materials from the collection statewide. ILL (Interlibrary Loan) requests will be filled immediately if the materials are available and we will let the requesting library know immediately if the resources are not available. We will photocopy articles from magazines, newspapers and vertical files. The fax unit will be used to send requested information. Using the fax machine will guarantee efficient and timely delivery of information from our library to the library requesting such information.

GENERAL RESOURCES

Databases

Our library has Lasercat which is updated quarterly. As the headquarters for Golden Plains Federation we use Lasercat to do subject searches and author searches. We send cataloguing information and holding lists to the other libraries in the Federation.

Books

Reference: Our reference books are not loaned out but we will photocopy information from these books and send that information. We will also answer questions over the telephone. We do a lot of this for the other libraries in our Federation.

Circulating: Glasgow City County Library will loan books out for a period of one month. New books will be loaned out after all reserves have been filled in our library and the rate of demand has dropped.

Periodicals

We would rather photocopy an article than loan the entire magazine.

Audio/Visual Materials

Cassettes and SOUFS are loaned out five at a time for a two week period. We do not loan out our videocassettes.

Equipment

Do not loan out.

Specialized Collections

Our Montana Collection is very extensive for a library of our size (medium to small). We have many historical books compiled by the surrounding counties. Our collection has extensive history of the building of Fort Peck Dam including the article that appeared in LIFE magazine in 1937.

Collection Size:	26,000
Staff Size:	3.8 FTE

Materials not purchased by the Lewistown City Library may be borrowed through interlibrary loan. The library uses the interlibrary loan system to supply other libraries or individual users with books and other materials that they want and need and that this library does not own, and which are either not available for purchase or are beyond the scope of our collection.

This resource sharing is not a replacement for purchasing material but allows the library to supplement our collection with materials not otherwise available to our patrons.

Believing that this sharing of resources is a basic service to the people who use libraries, we also believe that it is a responsibility of our library to make our collection available to other libraries.

The mission of the Lewis and Clark Library System is to serve as an informational, educational, cultural and recreational center for the community. As such, the library will provide for those needs held in common and unique to children, young adults, adults and senior citizens. The library will strive to enrich the lives of its patrons by providing resources both in print and non-print, programs, displays, exhibits and other opportunities for intellectual and personal growth. The Lewis and Clark Library System will provide access to information and resources outside of the Lewis and Clark Library and, in turn, share its resources with others. The best and most cost effective technology will be utilized for information access and delivery.

The Lewis and Clark Library System will be operated in order to encourage the use of library services. Reasonable weekday evening and weekend hours will be maintained so that all segments of the public will have equal access to facilities. Adequate professional and other staff will be maintained to make materials available and to assist the public in locating them. Efforts will be made to reach users unable to reach library facilities due to distance or physical handicap.

Lewis and Clark library will remain alert to censorship and will protect the confidentiality of library records. The library will strive to provide uncensored materials and information on all sides of controversial issues. Meeting rooms at the library will be available on an equitable basis, regardless of the beliefs or affiliations of individuals or groups requesting their use.

Lewis and Clark Library will exercise leadership in its local community, the Broad Valley's Federation, the Montana Library Association, and the State of Montana by seeking new ways to cooperate in resource sharing, continuing education, and information transfer. Lewis and Clark Library pledges active involvement in the State Library's planning efforts and in plans for library development in Montana.

MISSION STATEMENT

To assemble, preserve and administer in organized collections, books and related educational and recreation material, in order to promote through guidance and stimulation the communication of ideas, enlightened citizenship and enriched personal lives.

To serve the community as a center of reliable information.

To provide a place where inquiring minds may encounter the original, sometimes unorthodox and critical, ideas so necessary as correctives and stimulants in a society that depends for its survival on free competition in ideas.

To support educational, civic and cultural activities of groups and organizations.

To provide opportunity and encouragement for children, young people, men and women, to educate themselves continuously.

To seek continually to identify community needs, to provide programs of service to meet such needs and to cooperate with other organizations, agencies and institutions which can provide programs or services to meet community needs.

To provide opportunity for recreation through the use of literature, music, films and other art forms.

Along with our two branches in Eureka and Troy, we wish to make our collections and services available to individuals, rural schools and residents of the County.

COLLECTIONS

Specialized areas of our non-fiction collections are Western history, especially Northwest and Montana; the useful arts (how-to); the fine arts, especially painting, and reference. The other interest areas are fairly well represented.

Our fiction collection is less than half of the total but represents popular recent novels as well as older novels which many of our readers still prefer and use.

COLLECTIONS

Our children's section is well stocked with standards. We do need more of the newer titles which our budget limitations prevent.

There are some duplications in the collection, due to the necessity of providing the branches some of the newer materials. Rotating collections of some of the newer adult books are sent to branches.

Paperbacks are purchased when available for titles of less permanent worth or older fiction.

Need and enrichment are the criteria for all purchases.

Through a grant from the Kellogg Foundation we have obtained sufficient funding to finance the purchase of electronic equipment and the employment of a program specialist to expand the information gathering capability of the library and its ability to develop educational programs for the community.

GENERAL PUBLIC ACCESS TO OUR COLLECTION

Open shelf except Western history and old periodicals.

Interlibrary Loan.
